Sweet April Showers

WRITTEN BY COUNCILOR PAUL HANCOCK

April Showers Bring May Flowers. While it was actually derived from a collection of writings from Thomas Tusser back in 1557 where he wrote "Sweet April showers Do spring May flowers." Out walking on the Jordan River Parkway this morning, it was actually April Snow Showers!

I bring this up because for two reasons:

1) Although we love to see our green lawns we actually do live in a desert

2) We had near-record low snowfall this past winter

As I'm sure you've seen Mayor Johnson, as well as Mayors from our surrounding communities, have asked their residents to hold off on watering their lawns until at least May 1 (the exception being of course for people or businesses that have laid new sod) to help conserve water for the heat of the summer coming our way.

While I like a green lawn as much as the next guy let me address a couple of things that I've learned and I think help shed some light on 1) A Healthy Lawn and 2) What the city has done over the past few years to shore up our capabilities.

First in regards to a healthy lawn while the city implemented a water restriction policy a few years back where the yellow phase is restricting watering to every other day that "restriction" (which we haven't had to use recently) actually provides for a healthy lawn because it sends the roots (trees, bushes, grass, etc) deeper as opposed. I hate to admit it but I was always one to water every day only to find out I was probably hurting my lawn. Additionally, with the little bit of moisture (April Showers) we've been fortunate to get so far this month not using our irrigation lines, especially when combined with the cooler evenings, shouldn't be an issue at all.

Secondly, I want to share some information about what the city has done to address some of the concerns that people might have when thinking about water restrictions. The first of these is that when we talk about water restrictions we're talking about our Pressurized Irrigation (PI) system not our culinary water. Not once, even in our worst water years, has there been a concern about going to my kitchen sink or shower and not being able to have water. More importantly since 2013 we've added 49,000,000 Gallons of PI storage and when the Dry Creek Reservoir project is completed in the next year, we'll have an additional 52,000,000 of PI storage which helps capture some of the runoff that might otherwise just flow through our system and onto other water systems. In addition to the storage that we've worked on adding there have also been 4 new PI wells that have been added that generate 3,600 Gallons/Minute between them.

As we hit the transitional period between spring and summer I'm grateful for our city staff that continues to focus on our infrastructure needs of our growing community and I'm grateful for our residents that are willing to rally together to preserve the water we have on these off years.

- Paul Hancock

Planning Department

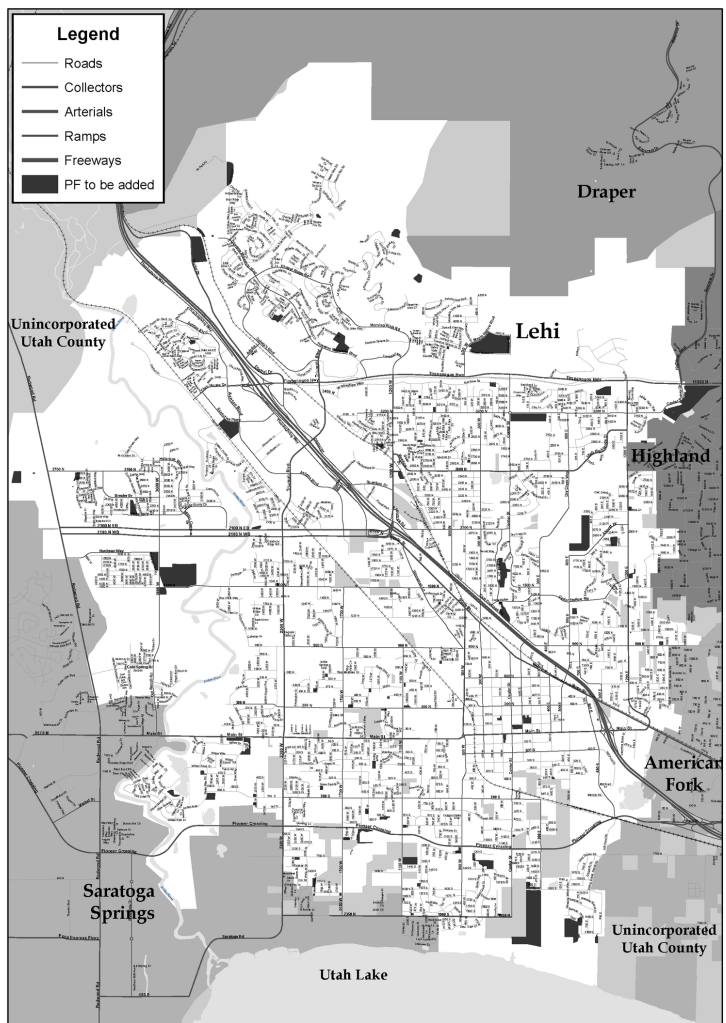

Dear Lehi Resident,

Lehi City is proposing to change several City-owned and Alpine School District-owned properties from their current General Plan designations to the Public Facilities designation. The City is required to provide public notice to property owners within 300 feet of a change to the General Plan. Because the proposed changes include many public properties throughout the City we deemed this newsletter as the most effective way to notify residents. The adjacent map shows the locations of both existing Public Facility designations and proposed.

The Public Facilities designation is meant to ensure and protect the long-term public use of public property. Common uses in the Public Facility District include, but are not limited to parks, trails, public schools, city buildings, city parking lots, and city public utility buildings such as water tanks and power substations. Additionally, changing the designation makes it simpler for both City Staff and residents to identify these facilities on the General Plan and Zoning maps.

The Planning Commission will be holding a public hearing on this item in person on May 27th at 7 pm at City Hall. We encourage those with questions or concerns to contact the Planning Department at 385-201-1000 or attend the Planning Commission meeting. You may also find more information on the proposed change and see a larger map at
